

Chip Curtis, Managing Director Sales / Trading

Chip Curtis has more than 20 years of Wall Street experience with positions in both fixed income and equity areas. After attending John Carroll University, Chip began his career at Thomson McKinnon Securities on the municipal bond desk as a retail trader until the merger with Prudential Securities. He later joined PaineWebber in 1995 following the Kidder Peabody merger and successfully built the Canadian equity relationship business into a leading revenue source for the Equity Capital Markets division. He continued to grow that production when PaineWebber merged with UBS and spent a total of eight years at the combined firms. Following UBS, Chip worked at Fulcrum Global Partners, Concept Capital, and Maxim Group as a senior sales trader.
